QUANTUM
Computer Services Inc.

Dear Commodore 128 Buyer:

Enclosed is your free Commodore modem and QuantumLink software kit. Inside the Q-Link kit you'll find a green certificate, which entitles you to your second month of service free! (The details of this special offer are explained online when you first register.)

Try it tonight! Q-Link hours of operation are from 6:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. weekdays (your local time), and 24 hours a day on weekends.

It's quite easy to get online, but we suggest you first read the "Getting Started" pages in the Q-Link user guide. (The Q-Link software included with this modem runs in 64 Mode.) Once you're online, you'll find plenty of help in the "People Connection" department -- look for our QHELPers and QGUIDEs, or just ask a fellow user.

Be sure to check out The 128th Precinct, an area of Q-Link that has been set up specially for C128 owners. You can participate in online conferences and forums, exchange messages on the 128th Precinct message board, and download software (both free public domain programs and updates from Commodore). You can also use the Commodore Hotline to get quick answers to your questions from Commodore itself.

Since Q-Link is your network, we would like to know what new services and features you would like us to add. Send us your suggestions and comments by dropping us a note in the Suggestion Box (located in the Customer Service Center), or send electronic mail to me, Jenny C.

I look forward to meeting and talking with you online!

Sincerely,

Jenny C
